Auto Tag Plan For Financing Bridge Studied

LANSING (AP)—Democratic leaders are not jumping with enthusiasm over Gov. George Romney's plan to refinance the Mackinac Bridge and make it toll-free by raising the price of auto license tags.

The governor said Wednesday that a hike in vehicle licenses averaging $1.75 per auto would enable the state to pay off the bridge without tolls.

Sen. Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, said new revenues should not go to pay off a bridge "that the people were told would pay for itself."

House floor leader Rep. J. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, said any license increase might soon be needed for highway building as the highway department nears its bonding capacity.

But Sen. Thomas Schweigert, R-Petoskey, who is sponsoring Mackinac Bridge refinancing bills, embraced the governor's proposal and said "we are now in a position to make Big Mac truly a bridge instead of a barrier."

Romney said the bridge with a toll scale ranging from $3.75 to $15.50 artificially divides the state.

His proposal would involve the state issuing general obligation bonds at 3 1/4 to 3 1/2 per cent interest in order to call in $99.8 million in revenue bonds, on which the Mackinac Bridge Authority is paying 4.26 per cent interest.

This alone would save $15 to $31 million in total interest, Romney said.

To make annual bond payments of $5.4 million to $5.9 million a year, Romney would raise the vehicle weight tax (license fee) from 35 cents per hundredweight to 40 cents. This would increase the average passenger vehicle license tax from $11.73 to $13.48.

U.S. Boosts Help For S. Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says he assumes Soviet anti-aircraft missiles eventually will be sent to North Viet Nam although they are not known to be there now.

The Pentagon chief spoke to newsmen Tuesday night in Honolulu after two days of conferences on the Viet Nam war. He then headed home.

The defense chief gave a go-ahead for intensified air and sea activity against the North Vietnamese Communists and said the United States intends to give more help to South Viet Nam's antiguerrilla forces.

No Missile Yet
Last week reports reached Washington that a Soviet anti-aircraft missile site was being constructed near Hanoi, the North Viet Nam capital. Last Friday, a State Department spokesman said such a site appeared to be in preparation near Hanoi, but other officials said there was no evidence that any Soviet missiles had reached North Viet Nam.

When the Soviet missile question was put to McNamara in his plane interview, he replied:

"We have no specific information whether surface-to-air missiles are in North Viet Nam, but we must assume they will eventually be introduced into that country."

Of U.S. assistance to South Viet Nam, McNamara said aid will be increased "above originally planned levels."

Sea Routes Watched
"We must seek to overcome the strategic disadvantage the South Vietnamese have versus the Viet Cong in terms of traditional guerrilla-to-guerrilla ratios by adding to the mobility and firepower of these forces."

Specifically, he said more helicopter and close air support is required. He would not say whether more American combat troops will be sent to South Viet Nam.

McNamara said the basis for greater use of the American Navy is the use of sea routes by North Viet Nam to infiltrate men and equipment.

U.S. Navy forces will continue to operate outside territorial waters, he said, but "they will note and detect suspicious vessels, will follow them, will report them to the South Vietnamese navy, who will follow them into South Viet Nam territorial waters and inspect them."

He said the United States also will give South Viet Nam more small craft for this purpose.

Partly Flooded Cities Build Higher Dikes

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP)—The flooding Mississippi River apparently has crested at 17.7 feet here but the city was prepared to continue its struggle to hold back the water which now is 5.7 feet above flood stage.

Weatherman Carl Peterson said today, "I think the river has crested at three-tenths of a foot under the mark we expected."

Peterson said that the crest of 17.7 feet was reached at 5 p.m. Tuesday and had held at that mark for 14 hours, with the reading still at 17.7 feet at 7 a.m. today.

After 48 hours of frenzied labor on the dikes, flood fighters had won a standoff. Crews were given a brief rest shortly after midnight before returning to raise and reinforce the dikes.

Phones Cut Off
The river already had claimed some victories. Water ringed the city's north side and had swept over two of three runways at the municipal airport on French Island. Phone service was cut to both locations.

A guard remained posted at a 15-million-gallon gasoline tank farm where one tank, holding 107,000 gallons, was tipped at a 10-degree angle when a dike crumbled Monday. Water swirled eight feet deep around the self-sealing tanks and the potential fire danger added to the city's uneasiness.

Downstream at Clinton, Iowa, a 75-foot section of a cement retaining wall collapsed without warning Tuesday, injuring 15 young volunteer flood fighters. Eleven were released after hospital treatment. Four were held for observation.

Couple Won't Leave
The five-foot-high wall is part of a mile-long dike officials hope will prevent major flood damage. The wall buckled under the weight of sandbags piled on top and the pressure of sand dumped against one side. The rising waters still were some distance from the break, and flood fighters immediately began to plug the hole.

At Marquette, Iowa, the river reached 23 feet Tuesday on the way to a crest of 24.5 feet expected Friday. Marquette is across the river from Prairie du Chien, Wis., where officials were wondering what to do about an elderly man and wife who have refused to leave their home.

The flood waters are only 50 feet away and the crest is still to come. "I've lived in this house 10 years," said Mrs. Sam Ferris, "and I don't intend to let a little water drive me out."

Guardsmen Called Out
Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner ordered 45 National Guardsmen from Rock Island to duty Tuesday. They will patrol river levees in the East Dubuque area. They joined 300 other Guardsmen ordered to patrol duty last week in the Henderson County and Quincy area to the south.

About 40 homes in the East Dubuque area were surrounded by 15 feet of flood water. A dike protecting another 108 homes showed signs of seepage Tuesday and sewers were backing up.

It was feared that more than 1,000 persons would have to be evacuated if the seepage continued. The river reached a record crest of 22.6 feet Tuesday and was expected to go to 24 feet.

More than 10,000 volunteers, National Guardsmen and Red Cross workers have been working around the clock in Illinois to bolster flood defenses between Rock Island and Quincy with 650,000 sandbags.

The Weather Bureau revised its flood crest forecast for Quincy, saying the river will hit 23.5 feet on May 1, or six inches below the figure predicted originally.

Helicopters dumped junked cars near Rock Creek north of Quincy in an effort to reinforce weakened levees holding back flood waters that have already swept over 7,000 acres of farmland.

Fight Against Medicare Will Go To Final Bell

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Medical Association, victor in all its previous battles against compulsory health insurance, plans to carry its fight to the final bell against the Johnson administration's health-care-for-the-aged bill.

"We will testify before the Senate Finance Committee against the medicare bill," Dr. E.B. Howard, assistant executive vice president of the AMA said today. "We still feel the eldercare bill is superior to this one."

The health-care bill backed by the Johnson administration passed the House earlier this month by a 313-115 vote. It is now before the Senate. The House Ways and Means Committee, which approved the medicare bill, did not consider the rival AMA-backed eldercare bill.

Dr. Donovan F. Ward, AMA president, criticized the House committee for tying in what he termed a "justified increase" in Social Security cash retirement benefits with the health-care legislation. He also criticized the committee for failing to consider the eldercare program.

He said that the health-care program would "centralize control over many aspects of the practice of medicine in a federal bureaucracy" and result in poorer health care for all American people.

"We are opposed to increasing taxes on wage earners to pay hospital bills for everyone over 65, regardless of their income, Ward said.

"We hope the Senate will proceed with caution and will conduct full and fair public hearings so that this bill can be thoroughly understood by everyone."

The AMA spent nearly $1 million earlier this year in a whirlwind campaign aimed at winning public support for the eldercare program. That plan would provide hospital and medical care for persons over 65 who need financial help to meet such expenses.

The health-care bill would raise Social Security taxes, boost cash retirement benefits and provide retirement health care benefits to all eligible persons. It also would extend the present Kerr-Mills medical assistance for the needy-aged program to all indigents.

Peking Urges Destruction Of South Viet Nam

TOKYO (AP)—Red China said today the Republic of South Viet Nam must be destroyed as a "product of U.S. imperialism" so that all Viet Nam can be reunified.

"There can be no compromise between the Vietnamese people and the U.S. aggressors on this question," said the Chinese Communist party paper, the Peking People's Daily.

Attacking President Johnson's April 17 statement that the United States insists that the independence of South Viet Nam be guaranteed, Peking said:

"The very purpose for which the South Vietnamese people are fighting at great sacrifice to themselves is to destroy completely this so-called 'independent country,' a product of U.S. imperialism, and to realize the reunification and complete liberation of their fatherland."

"So long as this so-called 'independent country' created by the U.S. exists, there can be no complete reunification nor a completely independent country for the Vietnamese people themselves. There can be no compromise between the Vietnamese people and the U.S. aggressors on this question."

Steel Contract Hopes Dimmed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration officials are taking an increasingly gloomy view of steel contract negotiations since the United Steelworkers Union refused to swap a five-cent pay raise for a strike date postponement.

While still hopeful of an agreement that would postpone the May 1 deadline, sources here report both sides in the Pittsburgh talks appear to be taking a tougher stand.

"It's pretty tight right now," said one high administration source. "Everybody is mad at each other."

He said the hardening of attitudes on both sides stemmed from the Steelworkers' quick rejection of the industry's five-cent hourly pay-boost offer last week. The union had expected a much larger offer in exchange for extending steel contracts during further negotiations.

The administration is sticking to its belief that the strike date will be postponed, but now believes it may be an 11th-hour cliffhanger, with talks going right up to the present deadline.

This may require some strong prodding by high-level government officials to budge the talks off dead center and avoid the possibility of a miscalculation that could lead to a strike.

Industry negotiators, who previously said they would not go beyond a 2 per cent increase, are now considering a reported union offer of a 3.2 per cent hike in exchange for a strike date postponement.

The 3.2 per cent figure, which would amount to about 14 cents an hour plus a 3-cent cost-of-living increase, is based on recommendations of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

The council has suggested limiting wage gains to the estimated 3.2 per cent annual increase in man-hour productivity in U.S. industry.

Steelworkers now average $4.40 per hour in wages and fringe benefits.

Johnson and his economic advisers are gravely concerned that a settlement much beyond the 3.2 per cent guideline could start an inflationary spiral spreading throughout the economy and boost prices generally.

Even more worrisome to the administration is the possibility of a strike that would cause shortages in steel-using industries and slow the present favorable rate of growth in the economy.

Planes Hit Red Truck Convoys

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Navy planes struck through the night at Communist truck convoys in North Viet Nam. One plane was lost. Results of the strikes were not known.

Other U.S. and Vietnamese warplanes flew a number of missions against suspected Viet Cong concentrations inside South Viet Nam. Some of the heaviest strikes were in Quang Tin Province where Vietnamese forces were mauled Sunday and Monday by Viet Cong guerrillas.

Two A4 Skyhawks from the 7th Fleet carrier Hancock prowled Highway 1 north from the north-south border early today. They made passes at two trucks south of Dong Hoi, firing 20mm cannon. The pilots said they were unable to assess the damage, if any.

About an hour later, four more Skyhawks flew the same route and reported sighting more trucks, closer to the border. They strafed the vehicles with rockets and cannon fire and reported seeing a bright flash after one pass, possibly caused by a secondary explosion.

Mother To Get Sanity Tests In Child Slabbing

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—An order to commit Mrs. Viola Mienert, 35, to Traverse City State Hospital for sanity tests following the knife death of one child and wounding of another was filed Tuesday in Probate Court here.

Slabbed fatally at the family home Monday night was 3-year-old Cheryl Lynn Mienert. Grand Traverse County sheriff's men said her brother, Mark, 4, was in fairly good condition.

Undersheriff Jack Canfield said Mrs. Mienert's husband, Carl, found her and the wounded children in a bedroom of their home filled with smoke Monday night. The girl was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Investigators said they found a large burned-out area in the Mienerts' living room.

Ten Countries Pledge Billion Aid For India

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ten nations including the United States today pledge $1 billion to India's economic development, although U.S.-Indian relations have plummeted to sub-freezing levels.

Indian diplomatic sources said that Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri will be unable to come to the United States next fall and will defer the visit to Washington until it is convenient for him to do so.

This was the delayed reaction to President Johnson's sudden request last Thursday that Shastri and Pakistan President Mohammed Ayub Khan defer their visits to this country until next fall because Johnson was so occupied with congressional affairs and the problems of Viet Nam.

Indian officials have been highly critical of Johnson's Viet Nam policies.

"President Johnson apparently has had enough of foreigners telling him how to run the world," one diplomat remarked caustically. "The President, it seems, cannot tolerate foreign chiefs of state that he cannot handle like members of the Senate and the House of Representatives."

According to the diplomatic version the White House made a sudden decision to defer both visits, catching Indians and Pakistanis by complete surprise.

The U.S. share of the aid is $435 million for the fourth year of the five-year economic program.

Other nations participating in the so-called "aid India club" are Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, Japan, Belgium, the Netherlands, Austria and Canada.

Family Planning Bills Ready For Quick House OK

LANSING (AP)—Two controversial family planning bills appeared ready for quick House approval today — a relatively smooth road having been paved in behind-the-scenes compromises.

The bills, sponsored by Rep. William Ryan, D-Detroit, were moved from the preliminary debate stage Tuesday after Ryan and Rep. H. James Starr, D-Lansing, announced a compromise and spelled out amendments they said would be added in the final stage.

The bills in their final form, Ryan said, will allow an oral explanation of available services—including birth control—when a person is first admitted to welfare programs.

Those already in the programs when the law takes effect would be invited to group discussions at which family planning services would be explained. Written notices also would be provided.

In each case, the welfare recipient would have to ask a caseworker for referral to an agency, and "would be told that welfare benefits would not be contingent upon acceptance or rejection of family planning assistance," Ryan said.

Planning assistance would be extended to a woman with one child who is not married or not living with her husband "to help identify, understand and receive treatment for her basic problems," under terms of proposed amendments.

In a cordial discussion of the bills Tuesday, Starr withdrew amendments that would have allowed caseworker initiation and extension of services to all unwed mothers.

Rep. Thomas Ford also withdrew his amendment—overlapping Starr's—which would have knocked out Ryan's restrictions on services to unwed mothers.

Tech Expansion Sought At Soo
SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—The State Board of Education Education was to look into another university branch question today—this one involving Michigan Technological University's Sault Ste. Marie Campus.

Its hearing will deal with proposed expansion of the Soo campus from a two-year to a four-year operation.

The board held similar hearings in March at Flint to study proposed expansion of the University of Michigan's junior-senior program there to a four-year operation.

It recommended to the legislature that a brand new four-year state-supported college be established in Flint and that the U-M branch be closed entirely once the new school is operating.

It said, however, its decision in the Flint case was not its final word on branches. It said it would deal with the overall branch question in its master plan for Michigan higher education.

Soon after its Flint hearing, Gov. George Romney asked the board to hold similar hearings at the Soo.

"May I remind you that a comparable situation exists in the case of the proposed expansion of the Sault branch of Michigan Technological University," the governor said.

Tough Nuclear Bombs Tested

SANDIA BASE, Albuquerque, N.M. (AP) — The United States has developed nuclear bombs which will, when dropped by low-flying planes, survive impact and explode by delayed fuse.

The time lapse allows the planes time to escape the blast area.

These so-called "lay-down" weapons, designed for hit-and-run attacks, are girded in armor tough enough to smash against rock or concrete without damaging the nuclear explosive. Testing the hide of these new weapons is an assignment being carried out at heavily guarded laboratories and areas in the foothills of the rolling Sandia Mountains. The site is a key atomic support base of the Atomic Energy Commission and the armed forces.

Technicians use every means to wreck, burn and freeze the non-nuclear hardware that goes into U.S. nuclear bombs, missiles, land mines, artillery shells and other arms.

Each component is designed to withstand temperatures from 90 degrees below zero to 5,400 degrees above, and possibly even enemy sprays of radiation.

Railroads Not Going To Pot, Says NYC Boss

DETROIT (AP) — The New York Central Railroad announced plans Tuesday to spend more than $2 million for improvements in Michigan this year—chiefly for installation of new track.

Slated to receive the bulk of the expenditure are NYC yards in Detroit, Wayne, Willow Run, Lansing and Kalamazoo. NYC President Alfred Perlman told a gathering of Railway shippers and executives here.

"Despite what some people think, the nation's railroads are not going to pot," Perlman said. "We are adopting the latest methods and machines that are available to make the rail industry a growing industry."

Escanaba Urged To Stress Its Weather Wealth

Escanaba Rotarians were told at their luncheon meeting Tuesday at the House of Ludington that the city should stress its weather wealth in its industrial development efforts and also in its recreational promotions.

The speaker was 1st Lt. William Golias of Bayonne, N. J., a Air Force meteorologist stationed at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base. His appearance was arranged by Jon Thorin, manager of the Escanaba Airport, an uncle.

Escanaba, said Lieutenant Golias, had only 36 cancellations of commercial airline flights in 1964 because of weather while Iron Mountain had 48 and Marquette had 140.

The reason for the variance is relationship of the three communities to the Great Lakes, primarily, Marquette is on Lake Superior. Escanaba is on Lake Michigan. Iron Mountain is inland.

The advantages of Escanaba's geographical position, weather-wise, is that it has fewer flights cancelled, greater safety, less shut-down time. K. I. Sawyer AF Base permits flying with only 100 feet of cloud ceiling and only a quarter mile of visibility and yet it has a great many flights cancelled because of weather, and spends a million dollars a year just on removal of snow from its air strips.

Milder Weather

Another advantage of Escanaba's location is that its summers are milder. Lake Michigan guards it against extremes in weather. When summer temperature is 80-85 degrees, Lake Michigan is 70-72 degrees and as warm air over the lake rises it is replaced by cooler air from over the lake.

Not so on Lake Superior, said Lieutenant Golias. Superior has a summer temperature of only 55 to 58 degrees and summer temperatures in communities along its shore may drop 20 to 25 degrees in a brief period.

In winter Lake Superior has a temperature of 32 degrees and the air is only 15 to 20 degrees and as it is heated by the lake it rises and picks up moisture which forms (stratocumulus) snow clouds. When they move off the lake and over the Upper Peninsula it is 600 to 700 feet higher than the lake and the lifting causes the air to rise and it cannot hold its moisture in this process and snow is precipitated in showers along the north shore of the lake and for a distance of 35 or 40 miles to the south.

"This," said Lieutenant Golias "is why Rock is the boundary of the snow line and Escanaba is relatively free of it."

Weather Making

Weather, he explained, is caused by interaction of two air masses—polar cold, dry air moving down from the north, and tropical warm, moist air moving up from the Gulf of Mexico. They combine in frontal systems of three types, cold, warm and occluded (combined) which each have their own weather characteristics. Fog is one of their products. Escanaba has less of it than most U. P. air service cities and so has more reliable air service than others.

Low pressure systems originate in the Colorado area and move northeast bearing moist air and often passing between Chicago and Milwaukee over a shallow dome of cold air and causing widespread snowfall.

So the U. P. is confronted with weather delivered from two major directions.

Escanaba's position on Lake Michigan, with its warmth and lack of variance in altitude between lake and land has an influence which modifies weather extremes in a way that

1st Lt. William Golias

Lake Superior does not, although it helps Escanaba, too, by its milder off deep Canadian cold before it reaches Lake Michigan and after it has dumped its frozen moisture.

"Escanaba," said Lieutenant Golias "has one of the most favored weather regimes of all the cities of the Upper Peninsula."

A mechanical engineer graduate of Newark College of Engineering, he has been at Sawyer for two years. As meteorologist he briefs bomber and tanker crews before missions which last 10 to 14 hours and cover 2,500 miles. Good weather forecasting is imperative for the bombers as they are very sensitive to low altitude turbulence in practice bombing runs like those they make over Lake Superior.

Funds Available For Mental Care Centers In State

LANSING (AP) — A total of $1.7 million in federal funds will be available to Michigan this year for the construction of community mental health centers and facilities for the mentally retarded, reports State Health Commissioner Dr. Albert Heustis.

The federal funds, authorized last year by Congress, will be administered through the Health Department's division of hospital and medical facilities.

Communities seeking to share in the federal funds must have their plans approved by the State Health Department and the State Department of Mental Health. Projects must be ready for construction by January of 1966, Heustis said.

Good Soup Is Popular In Every Country

For a hearty appetizer or meal-in-a-dish nothing quite compares to really good soup. The most inexpensive and widely eaten of all dishes, soup has the distinction of commanding the highest respect from expert cooks.

Soups seem to carry the mark of their origin and arouse feelings of ownership amongst the world's chefs. A Frenchman doesn't make a soup, he has a soup . . . and a Parisian is convinced an onion soup outside of Paris is not fit to eat. So too it goes with Scots barley broth and Italian minestrone!

Actually, navy bean soup today can be found almost anywhere round the globe but it's truly an American achievement. There are dozens of variations, all easy, each as delicious and satisfying as the next.

Bean With Bacon Soup

2 pounds dry Michigan Navy Beans
4 quarts water
1 ham bone with lots of ham on it
1 large onion, chopped
1 cup celery, chopped
1/2 cup carrots, chopped
Salt and pepper to taste
1/2 pound bacon

Combine beans and water and soak overnight. Do not drain. Add all other ingredients except bacon. Bring to a boil and simmer gently for 3 hours. Meanwhile fry bacon crisp and crumble. Remove ham bone from soup, strip meat from bone and cut into bite size cubes and return to soup. Serve steaming hot and top with bits of the bacon. Serves 8-10.

Puree of Navy Bean Soup

2 cups dry Michigan Navy Beans
7 cups water
Medium onion studded with a clove
1 carrot, quartered
1 celery stalk, quartered
1/2 bay leaf
1 teaspoon ginger
3 sprigs parsley
2 1/2 teaspoons salt
3/4 to 1 cup red wine
4 tablespoons butter

Bring beans and water to a boil and skim. Add all other ingredients except butter and simmer till beans are quite done. Strain, reserving the liquid, and remove the vegetables and the garnish. Rub beans through a fine sieve or puree with a little of the liquid in a blender. Return the puree to the pot, pour in remaining liquid. Blend in the butter and heat thoroughly. Serves 4-5.

Our War On Poverty

President Johnson's War on Poverty takes merit from the fact that there is poverty in America amid its abundance. Poverty becomes all the more regrettable, intolerable and harmful because it so separates its people from a mainstream of life in America which is moving very fast and which is apt to pass us by unless we have some means for voyaging upon it.

In other generations the disadvantaged were much less so, because their lot was only a notch or two removed from the next notch in the social and economic scale. But today the impoverished tend to fall behind their fellow countrymen not only in the simple matter of physical possessions, but also in education and especially in the morale and spirit which finally are the chief influence upon what kind of people we are.

The Upper Peninsula has poverty. It has been known to our able welfare officials for generations. Ivan Ryan's project with rural drop-outs at Northern Michigan University is a historic revelation of the dimensions of want in the Upper Peninsula and also of the difficulty of cracking the ring of poverty which encloses people who slip into this sort of living. Finally, the supplying of money — whose lack seems the simple explanation for their condition — furnishes no single solution to their problem.

They have been trapped in a poor way of life and it becomes very difficult for them — if not impossible — to give their children the advantages which they themselves lack. Hence the War on Poverty accent on children — the Project Head Start aid to children of disadvantaged families before they enter school, the Neighborhood Youth Corps, the job camps, the college campus job program.

Organizing anything as big as a national program to reduce poverty is an immense undertaking and we are concerned with some of its floundering. Michigan has set up an Office of Economic Opportunity to help the state avail itself of the federal services and funds available. In the Upper Peninsula the U. P. Committee on Area Progress has created an Economic Opportunity Committee to screen U. P. projects.

UPCAP is not staffed in depth so that it can handle all the organizational work entailed in a U. P. program under the many titles of the Economic Opportunity Act immediately and it seems unable to get quick federal action to solve its staff problems.

But beyond these immediate technical problems of organizing local participation in a program so vast that most local officials are unfamiliar with it — and operating under deadlines for competition for funds — are some serious deficiencies. Long before President Kennedy or President Johnson conceived the political bonanza of a War on Poverty, many devoted and able persons were warring on poverty.

They were fighting it in the public health departments, in the welfare departments, in the employment security services, in the mental health services, in the law enforcement agencies, in the schools and churches. Many of them were not more successful because they were working with limited funds to aid the impoverished.

If they had had access to some of the War on Poverty funds — or if they had access now — the funds would be going to the heart of need and would be administered with little or no extra expense and with professional ability. Instead, the Economic Opportunity Act sets up many new agencies and services and creates a lot of overlap, as does the National Education Act.

Expanded aid to the impoverished through existing programs presents its own problems, but all persons familiar with government's tendency to leapfrog and proliferate will wonder why the pioneers in the War on Poverty have not been given more of the means of the effort.

The War on Poverty will be with us as a political activity for years. The sooner it is divested of boondoggle, "take the children to the beach" and "help mother improve her baking" projects the better. A cancer as well as a historic opportunity for socio-economic experimentation, the Economic Opportunity Act can grow into the biggest pork barrel in history if shallow do-goodism becomes a national itch.

The Doctor Says:

Polyps Hard To Find

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Many persons are found to have polyps in the rectum. These small tumors come in assorted sizes and they may have a broad base on the wall of the rectum or they may be attached to the wall by a short stalk. The chief reason for finding and removing these polyps is to determine whether or not they are malignant. Relief of symptoms is of secondary importance because most polyps produce no symptoms, especially in the early stages. Later they may become so large as to cause some obstruction of the bowel or they may bleed.

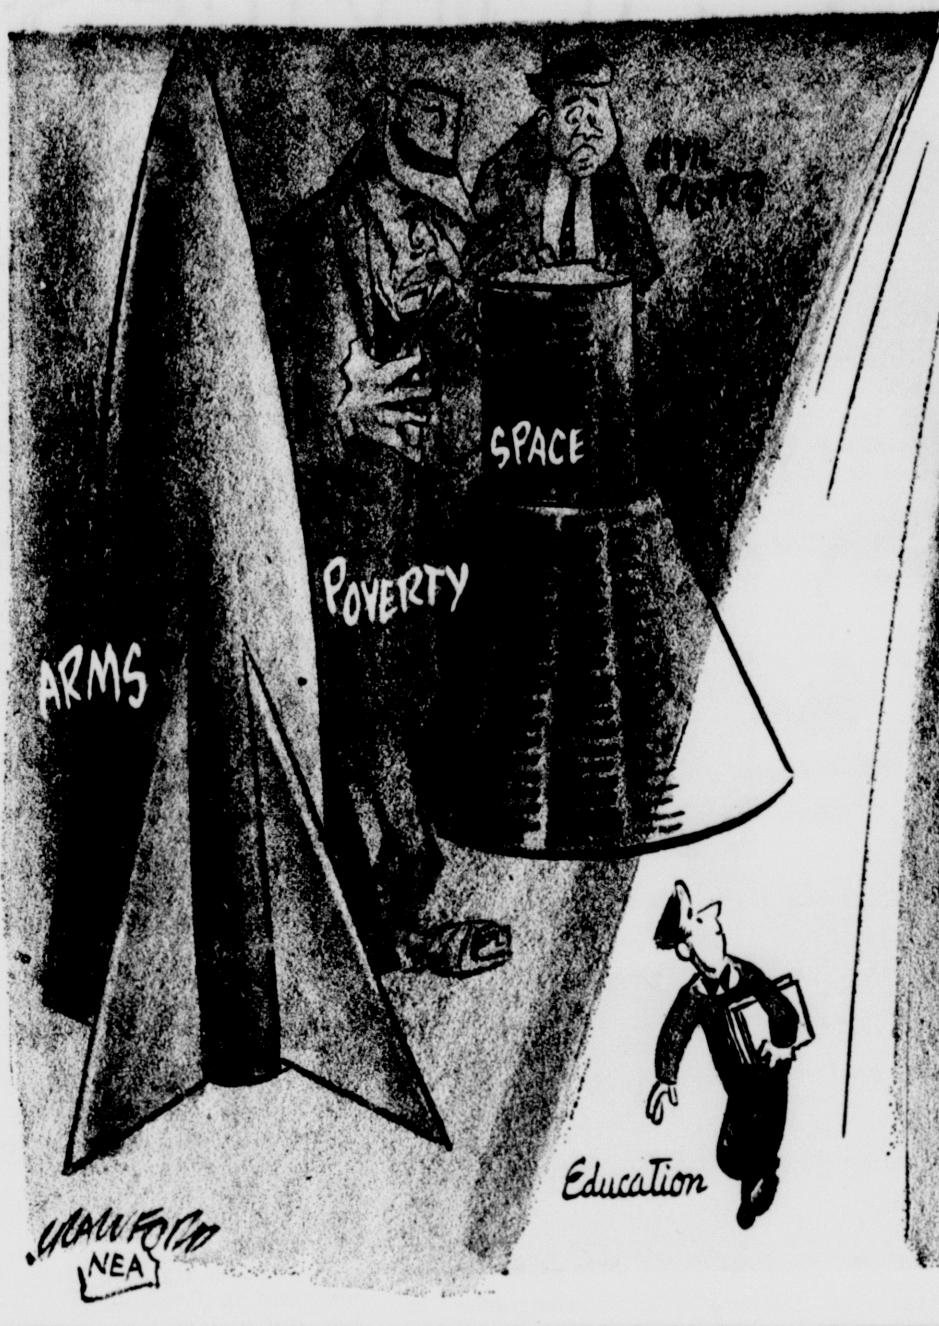

Q—I had a polyp removed from the right side of my nose. Within 10 months it grew back and I had it removed again so that I could breathe. After 2 months it returned. What causes these growths? Is there any way to prevent them?

A—Polyps in the nose are seen in persons with chronic sinusitis, allergic rhinitis and cystic fibrosis. Often there is a combination of two of these predisposing factors. Every person with recurring nasal polyps should be examined for all three factors. When they return after repeated removal the only way to prevent their recurrence is an operation that removes not only the polyps but also the entire mucous lining of the involved sinuses.

Q—I have been using paradiolbenzene crystals in my closets to discourage the moths. Is it harmful for children to breathe these fumes?

A—The fumes from this moth repellent are irritating to the mucous membranes. Short exposure would do no harm and few children or adults would be likely to expose themselves to these fumes long enough to do any harm.

New Talent in the Spotlight

Romney Rides High But There Are Pitfalls Ahead

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

LANSING, Mich.—(NEA)—Michigan's Republican Gov. George W. Romney, at 58 fairly launched into his second term, keeps on building political "star quality" and thereby freshly confounds his bewildered adversaries.

With the 1968 GOP presidential nomination beckoning on the far horizon, the governor's progress on his home grounds is a matter of moment well beyond Michigan's borders. A new visit reveals him to be riding high, though not without pitfalls to skirt in the months ahead.

Different now in some ways, he is basically what he was when he charged into the political arena three years ago—unpredictable, unorthodox, so "good" that it hurts. Says one Democratic appraiser:

"That clean life he's leading is really paying off." Seldom does the governor let anyone, including himself, forget his rigid Mormon upbringing. A political adversary who truly admires him declares:

"It's his virtues that frighten me, not his sins." The first time Romney invited top state officers to his office, a fellow who enjoys his pipe observed: "Governor, I don't see any ash trays here." Responded Romney: "That's right, you don't."

The official added: "I'd hate to spill ashes on this beautiful carpet."

Romney snapped back: "I wouldn't advise it."

Naturally he avoids all profanity. Yet listeners thought change might be in the wind when they heard the governor's annoyed rejoinder to a remark by Democratic House Speaker Joseph Kowalski:

"Oh, Joe, fiddle-fiddle poppycock!"

Romney's partaking of exercise is by now legendary. His fast early morning brushes with the golf course go on. By Mormon precept, the body is the temple of the spirit and must be well maintained. But for five days this winter the temple shook a bit. A veteran newsman notes:

"Believe it or not, this man had a cold."

Provoked by his "goodness," Romney's rivals won't stop trying to take the shine off or push him into displays of temper. He, of course, never admits anger but says simply that he "gets intense." A needing Democrat comments:

"He's been intense a lot lately. In other words, madder than hell."

As is well known, the governor's unique make-up causes as much bafflement among potential Republican allies as among Democrats looking for the "handle."

Despite his "I'm a team player" and his stepped-up out-of-state visits to party functions, many hard-shelled professionals still add together his strong religious bent, his moralizing, his evoking of "proven principles" that somehow seem beyond GOP doctrine, and come up with the tag of "maverick."

One crusty veteran of the national party never will forget Romney telling him "money isn't everything" when he visited the governor on a fund-raising mission.

Republicans can't really fix him philosophically. Moderates and liberals applaud his concern over civil rights and other "people's problems." Goldwaterites perk up when they hear him thrash everything big, forgetting that he includes business.

Romney's brand of individualism strikes one appraiser as of the rugged, western, "you out a stocky speaker and said, with Robert Taft-like bluntness:

"You don't look underfed to me."

When he was told that Detroit's crime situation was aggravated by 200 hardened young offenders prowling the streets, he suggested that each of 200 businessmen take one of the incorrigibles under his wing. Democrats scorned this as Romney's "take a hood to dinner" program.

Motorists spinning along Michigan's interstate highways complain they are sometimes stranded in lone stretches far from relief. New state facilities were proposed but Romney demurred. He suggested a program of voluntary help by those of the 33,000 state employees who regularly ply the open road.

Will Muller, veteran Detroit News observer, commented in print:

"Imagine the delight of a stranded truck driver who rolls down his window to look into the affectionate eyes of a Grade IV stenographer with a gasoline keg on her collar."

"Governor Romney sent me," she might say, "I am your Freeway Bunny for the evening."

Contributions are welcome. They cannot be over 300 words and must be signed with name, address and phone number of writer and names will be used. The right to condense letters is reserved.

FAITH
The statements on "What My Faith Means to Me" were an interesting and inspiring series for Lenten reading, and I am grateful to the Press and to the writers for the opportunity to share their faith and experience.

The new church page in the Saturday editions is very attractive. Your idea for such an arrangement and the sponsors each week have added a great deal to the value of the church notices, both in appearance and in the "spirit of oneness" which is emphasized by the arrangement.

INQUIRY
I am seeking information concerning John Lloyd Stephens and Fred Catherwood, explorers of the 19th Century. I would like to hear from anyone who has ancestors that traveled in South America as far south as Mato Grosso before 1850.

The last names of Boyd or Kuerten; John Fremont or his wife, the former Jessie Benton, or Bret Harte might give me a lead to the explorers about whom I am looking for more details.

John Lloyd Stephens was known to have visited relatives in northern Illinois when he was a young man of 18 or 19; that would be not later than 1825. He visited an aunt. Her name was not Stephens.

If you are able to contribute anything requested above, or first hand recent knowledge concerning the area designated as Parecis Mountains on the maps, please call or write.

On This Date Girl Past 70 Crazy In Love

Today in History
By The Associated Press
Today is Wednesday, April 21, the 111th day of 1965. There are 254 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1836, Gen. Sam Houston and his Texans defeated and captured Mexican Gen. Santa Anna on the San Jacinto River near Galveston. Santa Anna suffered heavy losses and signed an armistice providing for the withdrawal of all Mexican forces from Texas.

On this date: In 1649, the Maryland General Assembly enacted the first law for freedom of worship in the colonies.

In 1831, the Black Hawk War started in Illinois, against the Sauk chief of that name. Young Abraham Lincoln served as a volunteer.

In 1898, the War with Spain began, although the formal declaration fixing the date was not issued until April 25.

In 1910, author and humorist Mark Twain died.

In 1926, Queen Elizabeth II was born.

Ten years ago—Britain's new prime minister, Sir Anthony Eden, was elected leader of the Conservative party.

Five years ago — Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy and Hubert Humphrey attacked the issue of religion in politics in Washington speeches.

One year ago — President Johnson called for a peaceful revolution in the lives of poverty-stricken people of the world.

More bounce to the ounce may be fine for tennis balls but not for checks you write.

Britain is exporting golf courses. We know guys who have tried to do that divot by divot.

An English farmer gave away 1,500 live chickens, saying he couldn't afford to keep them. They just kept pecking away at his bank account.

Labor Department says that there are almost as many Americans with two jobs as there are with none. Moonlighting is rosy.

Newspaper want ads are a big sell! Eight hundred million was spent on classified ads last year . . . more than for all television spot announcements or radio advertising.

CHICANERY?
Truth forever on the scaffold:

Appropriate to the days in which our lot is cast are the words of the Prophet Isaiah: "Truth has fallen in the street."

I was reminded of these prophetic words by the story: "Lois doesn't talk but she starts a furore." Escanaba Daily Press April 17.

Two things are brought into focus by this story. First that the leaders of "The War on Poverty" must be awfully hard up to find "objects for their bounty." Perhaps it is true as was stated by a prominent man in New York and another prominent person in Chicago, that the "War on Poverty" is to help dispel the poverty of Democratic party members, who need a "soft job." Of this we may be certain that the cost of administering the program will leave little left for those who are in poverty and most need the help.

The second thing that is brought into focus is that, now as ever, "Truth is on the scaffold, wrong forever on the throne." It makes little difference that the clergyman who lent himself to this program to the extent of posing his little and beautiful daughter among the ash cans, was sincere in his effort to assist the needy.

Sincerity is never a substitute for integrity or for common sense. And to me there seems to have been an absence of both of these virtues in this clergyman's lending himself and his daughter to this effort to discredit Escanaba and its fine people. Most people will be happy to see the "Project Head Start" succeed. We do not want it to succeed by the devious path of falsehood and chicanery.

Dear Ann Landers: For a long time I have gotten a lot of laughs out of the wacky people who have written to you. Now perhaps I am the wackiest one of all.

I am in the middle 70's and have been a widow for many years. I am in good health, and have always been considered a pretty woman. After my husband passed away I did not believe I could ever love again.

Two months ago I fell absolutely mad, crazy in love. I have never felt like this before — not even about my husband. I want to marry this man but I'm afraid the feeling is not mutual. If it were, he'd be begging me to marry him (and he is not.) The man is my age and we don't have too many years left.

We are keeping our affair a secret at his request. Please tell this silly old woman what to do. —ASHAMED OF MYSELF

Dear Ashamed: The second from the last sentence in your letter is the tip-off. Why would a man in his middle 70's wish to keep his interest in a woman a secret. Surely he is not afraid of his parents.

Unless your friend is willing to take you out publicly and treat you with respect and dignity, tell him to wear out someone else's upholstery.

Dear Ann Landers: You have dealt in your column with guests who arrive late, but what do you suggest for guests who arrive early?

The other evening one couple (notorious for arriving early) showed up at 6:00 P. M. for my 7:00 o'clock dinner party. I was in the shower. The woman I engaged to help serve the dinner had not yet arrived. I greeted my guests in a shower cap and bathrobe which was horribly embarrassing. Then I had to rush to get dressed. I was so nervous I couldn't even comb my hair properly.

How does one deal with a problem of this type? I have thought of not answering the doorbell, but this is unrealistic since they know someone must be at home —HEI, PLESS

Dear Helpless: Guests who show up an hour early are as cloddish as those who show up an hour late.

Of course, you must let them in, but you don't have to entertain them. Tell them they are very early and excuse yourself. Take your own sweet

CHICANERY?
Truth forever on the scaffold:

Appropriate to the days in which our lot is cast are the words of the Prophet Isaiah: "Truth has fallen in the street."

I was reminded of these prophetic words by the story: "Lois doesn't talk but she starts a furore." Escanaba Daily Press April 17.

Two things are brought into focus by this story. First that the leaders of "The War on Poverty" must be awfully hard up to find "objects for their bounty." Perhaps it is true as was stated by a prominent man in New York and another prominent person in Chicago, that the "War on Poverty" is to help dispel the poverty of Democratic party members, who need a "soft job." Of this we may be certain that the cost of administering the program will leave little left for those who are in poverty and most need the help.

The second thing that is brought into focus is that, now as ever, "Truth is on the scaffold, wrong forever on the throne." It makes little difference that the clergyman who lent himself to this program to the extent of posing his little and beautiful daughter among the ash cans, was sincere in his effort to assist the needy.

Sincerity is never a substitute for integrity or for common sense. And to me there seems to have been an absence of both of these virtues in this clergyman's lending himself and his daughter to this effort to discredit Escanaba and its fine people. Most people will be happy to see the "Project Head Start" succeed. We do not want it to succeed by the devious path of falsehood and chicanery.

Dear Ann Landers: For a gal who can usually cut through to the core and get to the real problem, you made a blunder in your reply to "Disappointed Son."

You told him the reason his mother didn't like his kids (she made the 5-year-old get off her lap because he was wrinkling her dress) was because Mama did not like his wife and the kids were an "extension" of her.

This is just surface stuff, and unworthy of you. The real reason is that Mama would not have liked any girl Sonny married because she wants him all to herself. She considers the wife and kids competition and while she hasn't anything against them, she just hates to be beat out by anybody.

I'll bet my bottom dollar Mama is divorced or a widow. Usually these mothers, in an attempt to keep Sonny single, resort to phony heart attacks, bad backs and headaches. When these sons can shake loose of their guilt for not putting Mama first, and go on to lead normal lives, it's wonderful. Unfortunately some of them can't make the grade. —A SINGLE GAL WHO KNOWS

Dear Single Girl: You sound like a loser to me, but maybe it's just as well. There are worse fates than going it alone. And being married to a Mama's boy can be murder, as many women will testify.

Trout Lakes In Delta Best Bet For Saturday

The quickening of the spirit that comes to children before Christmas comes to trout fishermen this week as they await the Saturday opening of the season.

There's been a special early season for rainbows and browns on streams flowing into Lake Superior, but no participation down this way and luck hasn't been very good even in the north because winter has been so reluctant to leave.

Clifford Long, fish biologist of the Escanaba District of the Michigan Conservation Department says that streams are all high in Delta County and that not much fisherman's luck is looked for on the opening day, but that the larger streams like the Escanaba, the Whitefish and the Sturgeon should be worth trying.

The trout lakes in Northeastern Delta County are expected to get special attention from trout fishermen because they're not subject to the high water rush of spring flood, but they have their own problem and were all ice-covered on Tuesday.

Prize Lake

Long expected that Camp 7 Lake, which the Department has planted rainbow trout, would probably provide the best fishing, but several smaller lakes are also on the eligible list. They include Square Lake, Wintergreen Lake, Lake 23 and Zigmaul Pond on Carr Creek.

Long had his boat pinched by ice floes on Little Bay de Noc on Tuesday and had to escape over the ice with the craft while checking fishing conditions.

Signs will be posted on Thursday and Friday by conservation officers on the Escanaba River downstream from Boney

Fall Dam to County Road 519 bridge in Delta County designating it as one of five new quality trout fishing areas established by the Conservation Department in Northern Michigan since last season. The others are on the AuSable River and Little Manistee River in the Lower Peninsula.

High And Cold

General prospect for the opening Saturday is for high, cold rivers for the opening in the Upper Peninsula.

Statewide, fewer than 55,000 legal fish have been stocked this spring under the Department's new fisheries program, which, after 1965, will all but eliminate costly put-and-take plantings of keeper-sized trout.

This cutback in plantings of legal fish already under way does not threaten to lower the previous level of hatchery trout catches, the Department explains. In fact, poundage returns on planted fish will be significantly increased by shifting emphasis to releases of smaller fish in waters — mostly lakes — where chances are best for greatest trout growth and survival.

Some 180,000 $2 trout stamps are sold each year and about half of the fishermen try to make the trout opener.

Regulations are the same this year — a 7-inch limit and 5 in lakes and 10 in streams except for the so-called quality streams set aside for artificial lures or flies only fishing. Conservation officers can brief fishermen on quality fishing regulations.

The Gulf Stream, whose velocity sometimes exceeds four knots, has a rate of flow about 1,000 times that of the Mississippi River.

Ambush Killing Witness Heard

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — One of the four men originally arrested in the night-rider slaying of Viola Liuzzo testified for about two hours before a Lowndes County grand jury nearing the end of its probe into the case.

Gary Thomas Rowe, 34, of Birmingham, was guarded closely during his appearance Tuesday. Then he was taken to an undisclosed location.

An FBI agent was with him when he slipped into the jury room through a side door of the courthouse and later escorted him out a back door. A number of other agents were in the area.

The government dismissed charges against Rowe some time after his arrest.

Another who testified was Leroy Moton, 19, a Selma Negro who was with Mrs. Liuzzo when gunfire from a passing car killed her a few hours after the end of the Selma-to-Montgomery civil rights march.

The Detroit mother of five was on the way back to Montgomery after taking some marchers to Selma. The shooting occurred March 25 near Lowndesboro on U.S. 80.

Collins Candidate For School Post

Roland L. Collins, who last November was appointed to the Escanaba Area Board of Education on an interim basis, Tuesday announced his candidacy for the remaining three-years of that term.

Collins is the only person, to date, who has taken out and filed nominating petitions for the school election.

The annual election will be held June 14. Nominating petitions must be filed with the Secretary of the Board of Education at the School Administration Building.

Requirements

Candidates for membership on the Board of Education of the Escanaba Area Public Schools must be qualified electors of the district and be owners of property assessed for taxes.

Nominating petitions, which must be signed by at least 50 registered school electors of the district, must be filed with the Secretary of the Board of Education at the School Administration Building not later than 4 p. m. on May 15. Forms for petitions are available from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., Monday through Friday, at the School Administration Building.

No elector may sign more than one petition for the same office, except where more than one vacancy is to be filled.

tration Building, 1219 N. 19th St., on or before 4 p. m. on May 15.

Voters will elect three members to the Board of Education, two for four-year terms and one for the remaining three-years of W. John Anthony's term which was left open when he resigned.

Collins was appointed to serve in Anthony's place until the election. Four-year vacancies are in seats currently held by Dr. William Hemes and Jack Manning. Neither Hemes or Manning have announced whether or not they plan to seek reelection.

Collins, president of the Eskymo Fan Club, has been a resident of the Escanaba area since 1948, currently living at 1012 Washington Ave.

He is employed as Field and Stores Supervisor for the Michigan Liquor Control Commission and has been active in

He was born in Evansville, Ind., and came to Escanaba from Calumet. He is married to the former Ingrid Bajanan of Calumet and the couple's nine children all are either attending or have graduated from the Escanaba Area school system.

Forum Tonight On Gas Issue

The Escanaba City Council and city officials will present the second of a series of public forums on proposed sale of the Escanaba city gas utility to Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., at Escanaba Area High School at 8 tonight. The issue will be voted in a special city election June 1.

The public is invited to attend and ask questions.

Other forums are planned at the Webster School Wednesday, April 28 and Escanaba Area Junior High School on Thursday, April 29.

Read The Tag When You Buy Nursery Stock

"Read the certificate of inspection when buying nursery stock," suggests the Michigan Department of Agriculture to the thousands of citizens who will be buying and planting nursery stock with the arrival of spring. Such sales in Michigan are estimated at $40 million a year.

All nursery stock is required to carry a certificate of inspection issued by the Department's Plant Industry Division. The certificate indicates the nursery stock has been examined and found to be free of insect pests and plant diseases.

Michigan law also requires such stock to be stored or displayed under conditions that will maintain its vigor. All such materials are sold by grade, which is a factor in determining price. Buyers seldom find high quality items at giveaway prices.

Prospective purchasers also are warned by the Department of glib salesmen who make extravagant claims about their products or claim them to be sensational developments. All agents who solicit sales of nursery stock are required to carry an agents' permit requested from the Michigan Department of Agriculture by the nursery firm the agent represents.

First Soviet Ship Sails Seaway To Canadian Ports

MONTREAL (AP)—The first Soviet ship to sail the St. Lawrence Seaway system cleared the locks at Montreal Tuesday and headed upriver toward Lake Ontario.

Next major stop for the 10,000-ton freighter Mithurinsk is the Snell and Eisenhower locks in the United States section of the seaway near Massena, N.Y.

The U.S. government already has given the Russian ship clearance for these locks, despite some protests from American shipping interests.

The Mithurinsk is carrying general cargo for Toronto and Hamilton, Ont.

Washington Gets War On Poverty Into High Gear

By CARL LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thanks to a head start over the rest of the country, Washington's anti-poverty drive is in high gear. It could be a preview of what happens nationally.

Even before Congress approved what President Johnson describes as a "war on poverty," programs were under way here to combat illiteracy, delinquency and unemployment.

One of the program's major concepts, the neighborhood youth corps program to reduce school dropouts and improve economic opportunities for teenagers, first was tried out here on a pilot basis last year.

When a congressional task force checked recently into the local effort, its chairman, Rep. Hugh L. Carey, D-N.Y., said:

"I could not be more delighted, nor surprised, than I was to see how far you've gone. I just hope as we go around the country, we see as many good evidences of good progress."

Ford Grants Received

Since the Office of Economic Opportunity began to dispense antipoverty grants last November, it has poured almost $5 million into programs here.

Besides these funds, the United Planning Organization which is coordinating Washington's antipoverty programs, has received more than $3 million from other sources with another $5 million on the way.

This includes two grants from the Ford Foundation, totaling $3.36 million, to reduce poverty, dependency and delinquency; and $5 million voted by Congress last year.

A large portion of this money is being used in the capital's Cardozo district — a predominantly Negro slum area with high unemployment and illiteracy.

An experimental model school program is under way in Cardozo's 14 elementary and three junior high schools, supported by a $604,368 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity and other grants which bring the total available to $1.1 million.

Too Few Helped

Paul P. Cooke, director of the model school division, estimates that 6,200 of the 18,000 in Cardozo schools are participating in some aspects of the program.

But he expressed concern that too few children living in what he called "the hard core of poverty" — families on welfare or with incomes under $3,000 a year — were participating.

The Cardozo district also is being helped by the neighborhood development program in which some people are being used to teach their neighbors how to spend their money and how to use community health education and cultural facilities.

A suit designed to cut off funds to the United Planning Organization until more people participate in its decision-making is pending in U.S. District Court. It was filed by Julius Hobson, head of a civil rights group called Associated Community Teams.

The largest grants in the Washington program so far have gone for the neighborhood youth corps.

Part-Time Jobs

The first grant of $2.25 million was to provide part-time jobs with government, school and social agencies for 1,500 boys and 1,754 girls so they can afford to stay in school.

A second grant of $800,000 will finance a youth opportunity center and a network of neighborhood job planning centers to provide youths 16 to 21 with testing, counseling and job referral services.

These other programs are either under way or on the planning boards:

—A job training program for unemployed heads of households. An enrollment of 700 is planned for launching of the program this summer.

—A program to teach adolescent school dropouts and potential dropouts to read. A grant of $151,000 is expected to help 500 persons from 15 to 22 with hopes some will later become teachers.

—An adult education program to increase chances for jobs.

—Development of family foster homes in Cardozo and other areas.

—Improved legal services for the poor.

—Emergency assistance to provide newcomers to Washington with food, shelter, employment opportunities and bus fare to seek jobs.

Pickle Industry Asks For Help

EATON RAPIDS (AP)—This community of 4,000 has sent a petition carrying signatures of 2,487 residents to President Johnson, asking him to intervene to help save a major industry in the area.

The petition, sponsored by the Greater Eaton Rapids Chamber of Commerce, asks the president to grant immediate approval to use foreign labor for harvesting the area's pickle crop.

If no pickle crop is harvested, officials said, Eaton Rapids is expected to lose a pickle plant employing nearly 100 persons the year around, with an annual payroll of nearly $400,000.

Representatives of the pickle plant said that although they traveled more than 30,000 miles in the Southwest trying to recruit domestic labor, they have obtained only a fraction of the estimated 1,200 pickers needed.

Besides affecting the Eaton Rapids pickling plant, the loss of the industry would be a blow to the Charlotte glass plant which furnishes the Eaton Rapids concern with millions of glass jars each year, according to the Chamber of Commerce.

Pickling company officials said that as a last resort they would appeal to farmers and others with smaller tracts of land to plant "family-size" for limited production, at least.

Gas Rights Asked

LANSING (AP)—The State Public Service Commission says it will hold a hearing at Lansing May 5 to consider application of the Sunray DK Oil Co. for modification of rules governing drilling for gas in the Capac Pool, near Capac. The company seeks further drilling rights in the pool, which extends through St. Clair and Lapeer counties.

with those of other top city officials.

James G. Bank, director of the United Planning Organization, receives $25,000 a year — $1,000 below the top city salaries for President Walter N. Tobriner of the D.C. Board of Commissioners and School Supt. Carl Hansen.

Officials say that Washington's program is relatively more advanced than those in other cities because the city had a head start, and relatively larger because additional government and Ford Foundation grants are available.

Auto Tag Fee Boost Proposed

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has proposed a 14 per cent boost in the motor vehicle weight tax to refinance and abolish tolls on the Mackinac Bridge.

He declared that the present toll range of $3.75 to $15.50 is artificially separating the state's Upper and Lower Peninsulas and should be removed.

Romney said the weight tax has not been increased since 1925 and was significantly lowered in 1934 to the present 35 cents per hundredweight for passenger vehicles. The commercial vehicle tax was last increased in 1955.

He said the average increase per passenger vehicle to 40 cents per hundredweight would be $1.75 — less than half the cost of a one-way trip across the span.

Yield 5.8 Million

Romney said the legislature should redeem the $99.8 million in Mackinac Bridge Authority bonds with a general obligation bond issue in the name of the state. This would save between $15 million and $31 million interest between now and the present bond expiration date, he said.

Annual repayment charges on general obligation bonds would range from $5.4 million for a 30-year issue at 3.5 per cent interest to $5.9 million for a 25-year issue at 3.25 per cent, he said in a written message to the legislature.

The increase in weight tax would yield $5.8 million in the first year and up to $7.3 million ten years from now, his projected figures showed.

Romney said extra weight tax money not needed for the bridge bonds could be allocated to local units on the same basis as the present weight tax for road construction.

He ruled out both general fund revenue and a hike in the gasoline tax as sources of bridge money.

Lower Than Most States

Tapping the general fund, he said, would deprive education, mental health and other areas of needed funds.

The gasoline tax was increased in both 1951 and 1956, he said, while even the proposed weight tax would still leave the passenger vehicle tax less than the 55 cents per hundredweight at which it stood from 1925 to 1934.

Romney said Michigan's weight tax would still be lower than that charged by most other major industrial states.

The present Michigan tax ranges from $5.60 for the smallest car to $18.90 for the largest vehicle, with an average of $11.73.

Romney said any argument that the weight tax plan would relieve out-of-staters of any

State No-Strike Rule Tightened

LANSING (AP)—The State Civil Service Commission said Tuesday it has tightened its no-strike rule for state employees to include slow-downs and sit-ins, but will not make dismissal mandatory in all forms of strikes.

A new definition of "strike" was written after several members of the Michigan State Employees Union staged a brief sit-down at Lapeer State Hospital in a dispute over working conditions. No disciplinary action was taken by the hospital management.

A commission rule established in 1941 provided for dismissal for any state worker who "absents himself from duty by participating in a strike."

The rule "includes but is not limited to slow-downs, sit-ins, sit-downs, walk-outs and any picketing which causes any stoppage of work or deliveries or interference with normal department activity."

Punishment will be left to the discretion of the various state agencies which employ civil service workers, and could be suspension instead of dismissal.

A spokesman said the penalty change was made so dismissal would not be required for both the worker who walked out for three days and the typist who didn't type for half an hour.

Civil Service Director Franklin DeWald said the effect of the change would be to provide "a more detailed and realistic definition of strikes and more flexible penalties."

The new rule defines a strike as "failure to report for duty, the wilful absence from one's position, the stoppage of work, or the abstinence in whole or in part from the full, faithful and proper performance of duties of employment for the purpose of inducing, influencing or coercing a change in the conditions of employment, compensation, or the rights, privileges or obligations of employees."

Lake Restocking Trout Hatchery To Be Dedicated

Dedication of the new million-dollar Jordan River National Fish Hatchery, a key facility in the program to restock the lake trout to the Great Lakes, has been set for Saturday, May 29, Secretary of the Interior Stewart A. Udall announces.

The new hatchery, located near Elmira in the northern Lower Peninsula of Michigan, Million A Year

About 18 months will be required to rear this size lake trout from the eggs received by the hatchery from state and federal fisheries crews.

Approximately 1 million fingerlings will be transferred each year to each of the two federal fish hatcheries on the Upper Peninsula for rearing to the 5 inch size. These hatcheries are the Pendills Creek National Fish Hatchery and the Hiawatha Forest National Fish Hatchery.

All lake trout produced for went into operation for the first time last December and will reach full capacity this spring.

Dedicating the new federal facility will be Clarence F. Pautzke, commissioner of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and Gov. George Romney of Michigan. On hand for the dedication services will be other U. S. and Canadian conservation officials and representatives of the Great Lakes states engaged in the Great Lakes lake trout rehabilitation program.

Construction of the trout hatchery began in July, 1961, following transfer of the land for the hatchery site from the State of Michigan to the federal government on Sept. 11, 1959.

One of the most modern fish hatcheries in the world, the Jordan River hatchery will produce approximately 5 million fingerling lake trout per year for restocking in the Great Lakes. Of these, about 3 million fingerlings will be retained at Jordan River annually for rearing to about 5 inches in length, the size providing the greatest survival when stocked in the lakes.

The lake trout rehabilitation program are marked for future identification and will be stocked primarily in Lakes Michigan and Superior. The fish plantings will be made via distribution trucks to previously selected sites along the lake shores or at the mouth of streams. Marking the fish allows fisheries workers to estimate survival and the success of the different plantings.

During the 1930's, approximately 5 million pounds of lake trout were taken by commercial fishermen from Lake Michigan, with Lake Huron yielding about the same catch annually. By the mid-1950's, the lake trout catch in these two lakes had dropped to less than 1 per cent of the total, and lake trout populations also had declined rapidly in Lake Superior.

Lamprey Toll

Cause of the decline of this multi-million dollar fishing industry was the sea lamprey, a parasitic fish which first entered Lake Erie from Lake Ontario about 1920, after the Welland Canal had been deepened between these two lakes.

The significance of the sea lamprey in Lake Erie was not realized for some time but when the lamprey reached Lake Huron, where conditions for them were more favorable, they increased rapidly fish became apparent.

Intensive research efforts resulted in the development of a chemical which has been effective in killing the young lamprey before they reach their parasitic stage. Various types of electrical and mechanical weirs were also used at stream mouths to assess the success of control efforts.

By early this year, the Great Lakes Fishery Commission and the threat to deep-water nounced that man is winning his battle against the sea lamprey and that positive results are in evidence in the effort to restore the important lake trout commercial and sport fishing industries.

Seek Economies

Efforts will continue to find less expensive chemicals to control the sea lamprey, chemicals which do not harm other organisms and do not pollute the water.

Total lake trout harvest by commercial fishermen in the Great Lakes ran 14 to 17 million pounds annually prior to the advent of the lamprey. Sport fishing for lake trout in the Great Lakes was worth additional millions of dollars.

Lake trout are already showing improved survival rates as well as increases in natural spawning.

In Lake Superior, for instance, the lamprey population has been reduced by more than 80 per cent. The initial restoration program in Lake Michigan will be completed during the summer of 1966.

Research has also shown that the lake trout are not attacked by the lamprey until they reach a length of about 15 inches, and the lamprey will destroy 30 to 40 pounds of fish during its parasitic stage.

Seney Center Dedication Set Memorial Day

Clarence Pautzke, commissioner of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior, will dedicate the new Seney National Wildlife Refuge visitor center at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, May 30.

The dedication program and tours of the visitor center and nature trails at Seney will be open to the public.

Construction of the $100,000 visitor center building was completed last December, and final installation of the visitor center's interpretive exhibits will be completed late in May. The building was constructed under funds made available through the federal government's Accelerated Public Works Program.

Pautzke, an internationally known fisheries scientist, will head a list of state and federal officials on hand for the opening of the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife's second wildlife refuge visitor center in the United States. Three of the nature interpretation centers were constructed under the APW program. The first to open was at Moosehorn National Wildlife Refuge in Maine last summer. A third will be opened later this year at Blackwater National Wildlife Refuge in Maryland.

Also scheduled to appear on the dedication program are John S. Gottschalk, national director of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, and Robert W. Burwell, Minneapolis, regional director of the Bureau.

Interpretive exhibits in the new visitor center were designed by Bureau personnel and include work of Bob Hines, nationally-known illustrator of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. The exhibits trace the history of the Upper Peninsula and its natural resources, the conservation movement and the international waterfowl management program, as well as providing information on the natural resources and nature oddities at Seney.

Visitor facilities at Seney National Wildlife Refuge this coming summer will include a self-guided nature trail, an auto nature trail and a picnic grounds, as well as the new visitor center. Fishing is also provided on certain parts of the national wildlife refuge where such activity will not disturb nesting waterfowl.

About 30 separate exhibits will be on display at the dedication ceremonies on Memorial Day, according to Refuge Manager John Hakala. The visitor center also has an audio-visual room for public slide shows and movies.

Hakala said the dedication ceremony has been scheduled for 2:30 p.m. to allow interested persons to attend Sunday church services and Memorial Day services prior to driving to the refuge headquarters near the town of Germfask.

The visitor center will not be open to school groups or others in advance of the dedication, Hakala said, in order to allow for the completion of the exhibit installation.

Detroit Edison $400 Million Expansion Set

Plans for an expanded Detroit Edison construction program—involving an investment of more than $400 million over the next five years—were summarized for Edison shareholders attending the company's 62nd annual meeting in New York City April 19.

Board Chairman Walker L. Cislser told the shareholders that during the 1965-1969 period Detroit Edison plans to install about 1,250,000 kilowatts of new generating capability. He pointed out that the additional capacity will be needed in the late 1960's to meet the rapidly increasing requirements of the interconnected electric systems of Detroit Edison and Consumers Power Co.—partners with others in the Michigan Electric Power Pool.

The 1965 construction program will include the beginning of work on a 500,000-kilowatt addition to the company's St. Clair power plant.

Cislser said that a major part of the new construction program will be paid for by funds internally generated.

The company's net income for the 12 months that ended March 31, was $54.5 million, an increase of 16 per cent over a year earlier. Net income for the first three months of 1965 was $16.7 million—almost 20 per cent above the comparable 1964 period.

Shriners Make Plans For Charity Ball

As the first of May approaches, the Shriners from the Delta Shrine Club, are busily at work preparing for their annual Charity Ball which will be held May 1 at the Terrace Ballroom.

Through the excellent response to this program throughout the past years, the Shriners have been able to send six local children to Shrine Hospital to receive treatment without cost to their families. Without this treatment these children would never know the joy of walking and running.

Many times this treatment takes years. Just recently Timothy Curtice of Wells, returned to the Shrine Hospital to continue his treatment which was begun in the fall of 1960. This is just one of the thousands who are helped each year by the unselfish work of the Shriners.

Dr. Deutsch Talk Recalled By E. E. Wuehle

Edwin E. Wuehle, superintendent of Manistique public schools is among area educators who has heard Dr. Martin Deutsch of New York speak on his research, some concepts of which have been discussed in connection with Project Headstart.

Wuehle, who heard Dr. Deutsch speak Nov. 5, 1964, at Flint, states he is the author of numerous publications and that he has "tremendous respect for his research."

Dr. Deutsch has noted that in the 15 largest cities in the U.S. in 1960, one of five children fell into the category of disadvantaged homes. In Manhattan, this is 7 of 10.

Earmarks of these homes are: (1) Often no father in the home (2) mother does not have time for family activities, as she is solely occupied with management (3) often on relief, (4) often receive ADC, (5) can afford only slum housing (rent is paid by the week), and (6) breadwinner is frequently unemployed.

Dr. Deutsch recommends highly trained persons operating the nursery schools with selected environments, not just a kindergarten teacher.

He has noted that 60 per cent of pre-schoolers from disadvantaged homes are retarded by the time they reach junior high. Twenty to 40 per cent of children in cities come from disadvantaged homes. They have the highest unemployment rate.

MANISTIQUE

Many Lakes Get Trout Stocking

A dozen Schoolcraft county lakes, including three restocked after fish eradication procedures, are listed this year in the trout prospects of region four, Michigan Conservation Department. A number of the lakes have been freshly restocked.

Ashford Lake, a deep, clear pot-hole had restocking with 200 legal brown trout last year and 300 the year before. Worms are rated the best lure, with fishing with flies later.

Bluegill lake has been restocked with 500 legal and 2,000 fingerling rainbow trout and Dodge Lake with 1500 legal rainbows last fall and 1200 the year before. The latter lake also produces pike, bass and bluegills.

New Pond Stocked

A newly-created trout pond at the head of Clear Creek has been stocked with 450 legal brook trout. Dutch Fred lake has been stocked with 1000 legal brook trout. It is popular early in the season and has produced some big fish.

Island Lake, in the Dodge lake chain, was stocked with 1500 legal rainbows last fall, and 1200 in the fall of 1963. It produces good rainbows of two to four pounds, taken by trolling with "cowbells" or still fishing at night by lantern light. Pike, bass and panfish are also present.

Water Deeper

A rise in water levels is expected this spring as the trout season opener approaches. Last year lakes were two to four feet below normal. The department is planting sublegal and fingerling trout, to take advantage of lakes growth potential. Lakes having warm water species will continue to have legal brown and rainbows planted in them.

In summer, the department notes, trout are often found in the second layer of three-layer lakes, where water is cooler and contains an ample supply of oxygen.

Splake have a tendency to remain "schooled", inhabiting deep water in the daytime and feeding on shoals and the surface toward evening. Splake are classified as brook trout in the fish digest and can be caught on worms and flies.

Minnows are not permitted for bait on Ashford, Bear, Clear, Bluegill, Dutch Fred, and Ned's Lakes and Clear Creek pond.

The civil suit of George John and Marie A. Goudreau against Manistique Oil Co., Fred C. Hinkson and Lawrence E. Hambeau, and Robert and Frances Sine Hoar, vs. Butler Manufacturing Co., third party defendant, has been scheduled to be heard by a jury June 23. The case will be in the June term of court.

School Election Slated Thursday

Voters of the Manistique school district ballot Thursday, April 22 on a proposal to continue a 4-mill school operating levy. Any registered voter is eligible to ballot.

Polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m., in Lincoln school and Lakeside school. Richard Berger, Mrs. Alvin Carlstrom and Mrs. William McKenzie Sr., will be the election clerks at Lakeside and Ernest Derwin Jr., Mrs. Aldred Farley and Mrs. Arthur Curran, Lincoln. Paper ballots will be used.

The present 4-mill levy was voted in 1960 and expired in January.

The levy will bring the district $40,000, which it has been receiving under the expiring levy. Beginning with the new fiscal year, nine mills will be needed to qualify for full state aid. If the district does not qualify, it would lose $42,000 in state aid, Supt. E. E. Wuehle reports.

Also involved in the district's need for the continuation are consideration of federal programs, for which approval will depend on this, and continuation of the community school program plan, he said.

Govt. Asked To Extend Esky's Ore Shipments

City Manager George Harvey today asked Upper Michigan's representatives in Congress for more federal government attention to the problems of Escanaba's ore traffic.

Escanaba is the only ore port on Lake Michigan and it has been the busiest port on the Great Lakes for the past two weeks as vessels unable to navigate in Lake Superior's ice came here to load ore for steel mills on the lower lakes.

The first vessel loaded ore at Escanaba this year on Apr. 6 and the Coast Guard cutter Mackinac did not crack through the ice on Lake Superior to Duluth docks until last Sunday, April 18.

Today there were eight ore carriers at anchor here in Little Bay de Noc waiting their turn for loading at the big Chicago & North Western Railway dock and two more were loading.

The Humphrey was to leave this morning and the L. E. Block at noon and waiting to follow them were the P. D. Block, the Falk, Breech, Hobson, E. J. Block, Benson Ford, Chicago Trader and Purnell. The last in line will have to wait two or three days for loading, said Lee McMillan, C&NW dock agent here.

The North Western has nine 100 car ore trains in its yard here with the ore in their cars frozen since early last winter. When these earloads thaw and can be dumped in the dock and shipped it will free more than 900 cars for the ore traffic and speed it up. The traffic to date has been mostly in pelletized ore and the early traffic sets an all time record for this commodity here.

McMillan said that the shipping tieup here today was the largest since World War II days.

Escanaba City Manager Harvey wrote to Senators Pat Mc-

Namara and Philip A. Hart and Congressman Raymond Clevenger about the delays in shipping here and of the need for the icebreaker Mackinaw and Mesquite here for the first week of the traffic.

St. Lawrence Study
"Congress should come up with some funds to make a study to help lengthen the shipping season," suggested Harvey. "It is my understanding that Senator Proxmire (D-Wis.) has introduced a bill for de-icing studies of the St. Lawrence waterways. A similar study of the ice condition in Little Bay de Noc would be most helpful to the area and to the entire nation."

"If the results of such a study show that the icebreaker could keep this harbor open for another month and a half or two months, it would mean an additional million and a half tons of ore being shipped out of here. This would have a tremendous effect on our economy by continued employment for that length of time."

"Anything done to alleviate the problems in the St. Lawrence Seaway will create problems in the economy of our area. Laborator ore is being shipped through the seaway to mills as a competitor of the ore from the Upper Peninsula through the Escanaba dock. Anything done to lengthen the shipping season on the seaway will be detrimental to us unless our season can be lengthened competitively too."

Scholarship
Fourteen Michigan high school seniors have won creative arts scholarships for study in music, theatre, art and creative writing at Michigan State University including one U. P. student, James R. Bersano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bersano, Bessemer, in music.

$290,792 Delta Security Pay

Monthly old-age, survivors and disability insurance benefits in Delta County now top $290,792, Arnold T. Williams, district manager of social security in Escanaba, said today.

The new monthly figure represents an increase of 4 per cent over last year, attributed to the changes in the law as well as to the growth of the aged population.

Williams noted that as of Dec. 31, 1964, some 4565 Delta county persons were collecting nearly $3.5 million annually from social security.

More people in Delta County, he said, could draw social security benefits if they knew more about the law.

The average monthly old-age (retired worker) benefit in January in Michigan was $85.

The number and amount of each type of monthly benefits paid in Delta County, as of December 31, 1964 follows:

Retired workers, 2,424 — $179,186.

Wives or husbands, 665 — $26,039.

Widows or widowers, 465 — $30,668.

Mothers and children, 667 — $34,646.

Disabled workers and dependents, 335 — $19,928.

Romney Confers With 25 Solons On Tax Reform

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney is scheduled to talk tax reform today with 25 legislators designated by their leaders as fiscal consultants for 1965.

A Romney aide said, however, today's meeting probably would be just "an attempt to get conversation going—to review problems and find out where we stand." He indicated the governor would not propose any specific tax plan.

Republican Romney and Democratic legislative leaders have gone round-and-round this year on just how to approach fiscal reform. They haven't got into the pros and cons of specific programs.

Democrats, who hold a legislative majority, insist the governor should present a detailed tax program, then the legislature will consider it.

Romney says all sides should develop a joint program after the legislature has acknowledged it is willing to act on tax reform. He says experience in tax reform defeat in 1963 convinced him it is unwise to trot out a program for everyone to shoot at.

Vehicle bills for tax reform already have been introduced in both houses but probably have little chance without leadership agreement on one program.

Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, has introduced Romney's own 1963 reform package. In a strongly-worded letter Tuesday, Brown asked Romney to either accept the 1963 package or say how it should be changed.

Brown has offered to support the governor's program if Romney, in turn, will agree to a public vote on a constitutional amendment that would permit a graduated income tax. The Constitution now limits any income tax to a flat rate.

At the heart of most fiscal reform suggestions is an income tax, elimination of the sales tax on food and drugs and elimination of the business activities tax.

Romney says reform is needed because fixed state costs on existing programs are rising faster than revenues, and that the state current treasury surplus will be gone within two years.

Partly Flooded Cities Build Higher Dikes

State Prison at Menard were foiled by floodwaters in an escape attempt Tuesday.

Warden Ross Randolph said debris apparently sheared a pin in the propeller shaft of the motor on their escape boat. They were picked up by a prison patrol boat after drifting to an island about five miles from the prison.

Twenty-five miles upriver from La Crosse at Winona, Minn., the river began to inch back. After hitting a peak of 20.67 feet, it slipped slightly to 20.67 feet.

Winona Mayor Rudy Ellings said, "After the biggest battle in our city's history it now appears our efforts will be successful."

Winona threw up nine miles of earthen dike. Ellings said they "look better today than they ever have."

Wabasha, to the north of Winona, still was surrounded by water but levels were going down slowly.

CHILDREN CREDITED

CLINTON, Iowa, (AP) — Grownups who have been battling angry floods in the Midwest for nearly a month are quick to give credit for the help of school children.

If the youngsters sometimes seem to get underfoot filling and hauling sandbags it can be laid to eagerness. But officials concede that without their help many a levee couldn't have been raised in time.

Among the thousands of high school and junior high pupils who have enlisted in the fight against the Mississippi River were the children on the job here Tuesday.

Fifteen of nearly 1,300 who had been excused from school for the day were at the spot where sandbags had been placed on top of a cinder block wall behind the Clinton baseball stadium.

A section of the wall collapsed without warning and 15 boys and girls were injured.

Danny Waters, 12, and Barbara Hodges, 16, with leg fractures; and Tim Leonard, 13, with back injuries, were hospitalized. The others were treated for cuts and bruises and released.

County Solution To J.F. Kennedy School Sought

The Escanaba Area Board of Education, fearful that a takeover of the J. F. Kennedy School for retarded children by the Escanaba Area District might limit enrollment to residents of the district, Tuesday asked the Delta County Retarded Children's Association to attempt to find a county-wide solution to the problem of operating the school.

The request was made at a special meeting of the Board with representatives of the association to consider an association proposal that the Escanaba Area assume responsibility for operating the school.

"The program was started on a county-wide basis and if it could be maintained on that basis it would be ideal for all concerned," said Board member Carleton Olson.

"We don't want to create any hard feelings by taking over the school, then discovering our enrollment has increased so we can't take children from Gladstone or Flat Rock."

Capacity Question
"There are people who live in our area who are not active in the retarded school program," he added. "If we take over they're going to want to send their children to school."

Capacity of the school is rated at 30, but problems in securing special education teachers could cause overcrowding problems if only one teacher were available.

State regulations provide that there must be one teacher for every 15 students.

If, for example, only one teacher were available this fall and enrollment grew to 17, two students from outside the school district would have to be dropped.

Discussed as possible solutions to the problem of limited enrollment were a takeover by the Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate School District on a two-county basis or possibly, an agreement between Delta County school districts for joint support of the school.

Explains Request
The request that the Escanaba Area assume responsibility was made in a resolution from the Delta County Chapter.

"We've been operating a school of this type for nine years now," said Albert J. Valind, explaining the resolution. "Little by little we've sort of been overcome in our position as educators. It's getting to be quite a problem each year raising money. It's time to place this program in the hands of educators."

The Escanaba Board of Education said it wasn't trying to dodge the responsibility, but wanted to be sure that all efforts were made to secure a county-wide solution so that children from all areas of the county could be assured of participation in the program.

Project Approved
In the lone other item of business considered, the Board approved expenditure of $1,816 from the contingency fund to participate in a National Defense Education Act program to obtain supplemental reading materials for kindergarten through third grade classes. The total project would cost $3,675 with the federal government paying the rest.

Our children pioneers?

Take a thoughtful look into the future. This much is clear: Whether today's youngster moves out onto the frontiers of space or the ocean depths; whether he helps push to new horizons of medicine, law, farming or international relations, the future belongs to the fit. The future belongs to those vigorous enough to live it, and shape it!

Medical authorities put it this way: "It is a tragic waste to highly educate the minds of our children, and neglect the physical conditioning that can help them participate in the future to the full extent of their abilities."

Warnings like this have sparked action.

The President's Council on Physical Fitness has developed programs that any school can initiate, regardless of limitations in facilities or budget. We're making progress. Yet even today, less than half our school children get the daily minimum of vigorous exercise they need for adequate physical development.

How about your schools? Are they providing for physical fitness as part of the sound education your children need to carve out their share of the future? You parents can help see that they do. Write: The President's Council on Physical Fitness, Washington, D. C., for information.

High school wrestling, which will be added to Escanaba's varsity athletic program next year, is one of the fastest growing sports in prep circles in the state . . . At present, about 200 of the 761 schools belonging to the Michigan High School Athletic Association sponsor the sport.

One of the reasons for the popularity of the sport is that a 95 pounder is just as important to the team and has just as good a chance of winning a varsity letter as a 230 pounder . . . There are 12 weight classes in amateur wrestling: 95 pounds, 103, 112, 120, 127, 133, 138, 145, 154, 165, 180 and the unlimited or heavyweight class . . . Some schools with well established programs have junior varsity, or reserve teams, making it possible for 24 boys to see action in a dual match.

In contrast to professional wrestling, which is strictly show business, amateur wrestling is a highly competitive sport . . . Briefly, the scoring goes like this: Each match consists of three two-minute periods, five points are scored for a fall, three points for a decision, two points for a draw . . . If a boy pins both his opponents' shoulders to the mat for two seconds, it is a fall . . . Three points are scored for a near fall, when the shoulders are pinned for one second, and if the shoulders are held within four inches of the mat momentarily, it counts two points.

There are other ways of scoring points: for a reversal, riding time, escape and predicament, so that the referee's ability and judgment are all-important.

Wrestling is highly recommended for prep football players to help them develop agility, strength and confidence . . . Another important point: Any hold that would be potentially dangerous or liable to injure a boy is illegal and injuries are extremely rare in the sport.

It is interesting to note that Ron Steiner, former Iron Mountain athlete, is returning to the Upper Peninsula as a coach . . . A large number of former outstanding U. P. athletes are in the coaching and teaching profession . . . Just taking a sample year, 1951, we find a half dozen players from that edition of the All U. P. football team who are now coaches: Paul Gunderman of Escanaba, Pute Kutches of Holy Name, Tom Taylor of Newberry, Al Sandona of Iron Mountain and Ken Hofer of Stephenson, and Paul Baldwin of Escanaba who was on the honorable mention list.

Mantilla Drives Five Runs Home

By The Associated Press
Felix Mantilla, who made more moves than a belly dancer last year, has reduced his act. Instead of belting the ball between fielders and over fences while moving from one of six positions to another, he's just rapping the ball between fielders and over fences.

Charlie-O Is A Bit Bored

DETROIT (AP) — Looking a little bored, as if he didn't like the idea of appearing in the "Motor City," Charlie-O arrived in Detroit Tuesday.
Charlie-O—mule mascot of the Athletics—made the trip from Kansas City in an air-conditioned trailer with piped-in music, after swinging by Jefferson City to pay his respects to Missouri Gov. Warren Hearnes.
The mule nonchalantly surveyed a crowd gathered to greet him outside a Detroit hotel. Athletics owner Charles O. Finley played a supporting role, handing out bats, souvenir pens and decals.
Charlie-O will make a grand entrance today in Opening Day ceremonies at Tiger Stadium. Republican Gov. George Romney, who usually associates with an elephant, is scheduled to share the spotlight when he throws out the first ball.
Oh, yes, the Athletics also came to town.

MASTERFUL MOMENT—Jack Nicklaus tosses his ball into the crowd after putting out his 271st stroke in the Augusta Master's Golf Tournament. He won $20,000 while shaving three strokes off Ben Hogan's meet record.

Canadiens Stop Chicago's Two Scoring Aces

CHICAGO (AP) — "If they can keep those two big guys quiet, we'll have won half the battle," says Montreal goalie Gump Worsley.
Montreal had kept the two big guys quiet and has already won half the battle in the Stanley Cup National Hockey League championship.
The Canadiens scored a 2-0 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks Tuesday night and have won the first two games of the best-of-7 series in Montreal.
For the second successive game, Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita, Chicago's one-two scoring punch, failed to produce. Hull is Montreal's No. 1 target. So far Claude Provost has done a brilliant job of guarding the Golden Jet.
Hull was held to only two shots on goal in the second game, in which Jean Beliveau and Dick Duff scored power play goals in the second and third periods, respectively, to give Montreal its commanding edge.
Not only have Hull and Mikita been stopped, but the Hawks desperately miss Pierre Pilote and Kenny Wharram, a couple of injured stars.
Pilote, the All-Star defenseman, captain and playmaker, is out with an injured left shoulder. Wharram is suffering from bruised knees. Whether they will be able to play when the series resumes in Chicago is doubtful.

Softball Sets Opening Date For May 16

The Escanaba Softball Association set the 1965 season opening date for Sunday, May 16, at an organization meeting Tuesday night.

The date is tentative, hinging on the weather and the condition of Memorial Field. President Bill Rodman called for a general workbee at the field for Saturday, May 1, to erect the outfield fence and begin preparation of the grounds and buildings.

Nine teams indicated they will play in the Escanaba league this season. Planning to compete are Mead No. 1, Hamms, Hall Insurance, Skippy's Bar, Independents, Teamsters, Bero's, Flat Rock and Mead No. 3.

The Association adopted the three-pitch warmup rule for pitchers. The regulation allows an unlimited number of warmup pitches before the game starts, but only three between innings.

The Association also approved a resolution making it necessary for teams to use only players on the Upper Peninsula rosters in the City tournament and in league play after July 15. The Invitational tournament will be played on the July 4th weekend and the City tourney on the weekends of July 17 and 24.

Jake Wood Is Forgotten Man

DETROIT (AP) — Jake Wood, once the most exciting player to appear in Tiger Stadium, has become the forgotten man of the Detroit Tigers.

Until he doubled in a pinch-hitting role in Los Angeles Sunday—to spoil Rudy May's no-hit bid—it is doubtful whether more than a handful of fans realized he was still with the team.

Back in 1961, Wood was one of the big reasons why the Tigers were able to challenge the pennant-winning New York Yankees for most of the season.

He led the league in triples with 14 and was third in stolen bases with 30.

Wood committed 25 errors but only six of them came in the last two months of the season. He missed only one game and finished with a .258 batting average.

Wood also set a then major league record for strikeouts in one season with 141.

The next year he started fast but slumped and eventually lost his second base job late in July.

He hasn't been able to crack the starting lineup since. He stole 24 bases in 1962 and added 18 more the following year.

Last season, though the fans still chanted "Go, Jake, Go" when he got on base, he did not swipe any.

Wood appeared in 64 games in 1964, mostly as a pinch-hitter or runner. His record shows he played only 28 games in the field—at four different positions.

Old Spahn Posts First Met Victory

By The Associated Press

Warren Spahn gave every indication in 1964 that he was getting too old to remain a big winner in the majors. Apparently he stopped off somewhere between seasons for a vitamin pick-me-up that has taken a couple of years off his 43-year-old left arm.

Making his second start Tuesday night, the winningest southpaw in major league history came through with another strong performance, allowing only one earned run in a 3-2 victory over Los Angeles that brought him his first triumph as a New York Met and the 357th of his career.

That left Spahn with a sparkling 2.12 earned-run average and two steps closer toward his prime 1955 goal—"erasing the memory of last year when everything went bad for me."

Spahn won 23 games for Milwaukee in 1963, then fell to a 6-13 mark last season with a 5.28 ERA. But he never once assumed he was over the hill.

"I am sound physically," he pointed out during spring training. "I just wasn't pitching enough last year. I have to work regularly to be effective."

"You can't convince me you go from middle age to old age in one year."

He proved his point against the Dodgers, working into the ninth with a four-hit shutout.

Then a single by Wes Parker and an error by Ed Kranepool opened the door and the Dodgers stuck their foot in it with run-producing singles by Tommy Davis and John Roseboro.

But with the tying and winning runs on first and third, Spahn reared back into his high kick and pitched out of the jam. He struck out Jim Lefebvre for strikeout No. 2,500 of his career, got Ron Fairly on a grounder and finished with a flourish by striking out John Kennedy.

Elsewhere, Roberto Clemente, still underweight from a battle with malaria this spring, drove in two runs with a pair of singles in Pittsburgh's 3-1 victory over San Francisco and Philadelphia edged Houston 2-1 in 13 innings on Ruben Amaro's key single. The other clubs were not scheduled.

In the only scheduled American League game, Boston defeated Washington 5-2.

Spahn was locked in a scoreless duel with Dodger starter Claude Osteen, who had allowed only three hits, until the eighth when Roy McMillan's squeeze bunt brought in Johnny Lewis. Lewis produced the other New York runs with a two-run single in the ninth inning.

Clemente, who has six hits in his last 12 at-bats, singled following Bill Virdon's double in the first inning and drove in another Pirate run in the fifth after Dick Schofield singled and moved to second on a groundout.

Willie Mays provided the only San Francisco run with his third homer of the season. Mays' 420-foot belt came off Bob Friend, who needed Al McBean's relief help over the final 2-3 innings to get his second victory without a loss.

The Phillies edged the Astros in the 13th when reliever Hal Woodshick issued two-out walks to Cookie Rojas and Frank Thomas before Amaro followed with his game-winning hit off Claude Raymond.

Spawning Pike Placed In Pond

Nets were lifted today in streams flowing into the head of Little Bay de Noc by fish biologists to get spawning northern pike for placement in the big pike rearing pond created by Operation Bootstrap opposite Jack Smith's Ken-Mar Resort on the east side of Little Bay de Noc at its head.

Clifford Long, fish biologist of the Escanaba District, Michigan Conservation Department, was in charge of the taking of the pike to get spawn for the rearing pond.

Long commended Operation Bootstrap for the constructive conservation project on which it has launched with the pike pond. It will provide about 6 acres of water and has a dike and dam for controls. The pike will be released in lake June or early July.

The pond construction was completed Tuesday and it is flooded and ready for the fish, said Long.

The project is headed by Elmer White, Bert Wickham and W. J. Lindberg. Operation Bootstrap is a volunteer effort to improve public fishing in Little Bay de Noc waters to bolster the recreation business there. The operation has planted thousands of rainbow trout in Little Bay de Noc last summer. Its pike pond is the first project of a series planned in cooperation with the Conservation Department to improve fishing.

State Police Seek Night Triggerman Near Rapid River

An investigation into a careless use of firearms complaint filed by David Gulch, Rte. 1, Rapid River, continued today by State Police of the Gladstone Post.

Gulch called troopers shortly after 9 p.m. Tuesday after a shot narrowly missed striking him. He said the shot was so close he heard it whistle past.

Gulch told police that two boys who are staying with him were fishing in the Little Bay de Noc basin at Rapid River when they noticed two cars pull up to the shore on the other side. The cars left their lights on and someone began shooting at the water.

Gulch said the boys ran home and when he returned a shot was fired in his direction when he tried to get the person or persons to stop firing.

SHORT END OF THE LAW
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Police found a new weapon to frustrate a purse snatcher.

School Budget Rises Slightly

The Gladstone Board of Education has tentatively approved an operating budget of $396,533 for the 1965-66 school year, an increase of $1,791 from the current budget.

The 1964-65 budget calls for total expenditures of $394,742.

Largest rise comes in salaries for teachers where an additional $12,000 is budgeted. Total teacher payroll is expected to hit $298,285, about 75 per cent of operating expense.

Funds budgeted for transportation, however, are down about $8,000 to $6,975 because no bus purchase is anticipated.

Other areas, except for a $2,000 decrease in the capital outlay budget to $10,000, are about the same as last year. They include $41,468 for operational expense (teaching supplies, books, etc.) and $17,775 for administrative salaries.

Final action on the budget will not come until after the County Tax Allocation Board sets millage figures for the coming year. The Allocation Board must act by June 7.

Governor Backs Sylvania Tract National Forest

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has wired the U.S. Senate Appropriations Committee, urging that the Sylvania Tract in the Upper Peninsula be added to the Ottawa National Forest.

Said Romney: "I have flown over this 29-square-mile tract of northern forests and lakes and it definitely has exceptional recreational potential. It should be acquired for the use and enjoyment of the people of Michigan and the nation."

Romney also urged that provision be made initially for federal payments in lieu of taxes to local governmental units to avoid hardship by having the land removed from the tax rolls.

Crazy Horse Saloon: It's A Gold Mine In Paris

PARIS — (NEA) — Alain Bernardin has made a goodly fortune in 10 years by making people feel "devilishly devilish."

Bernardin's Crazy Horse Saloon, temple of the strip tease in Paris, has just marked its 10th birthday—and nobody could be more surprised at the Crazy Horse's success than its owner.

In a plush pseudo-Wild West decor with dark plaid upholstery and crimson carpeting, Bernardin has evolved a most sophisticated and unique show. A pioneer in the art, all he had to go on were a couple of magazine stories and a movie.

He decided that he could do better—and did.

So this ex-antique dealer, ex-restaurant owner turned producer, impresario, electrician and announcer, and opened his cello on the swanky Avenue George V, just about a block away, as the crowd flies from the world-famed Lido.

"The trick" says Bernardin, "is to make people feel 'devil-ishly devilish," not to shock them. The girls are beautiful, seductive, and they are all trained dancers."

In the past 10 years Bernardin has engaged some 100 girls who have earned a global reputation for the Crazy Horse Saloon. What does he first look for in a candidate stripper? Her eyes.

"If a girl's eyes are lacking in expression, then she cannot mime an act." Only when she has passed this test does he consider her anatomy and has her parade on his minute stage under the spotlights.

"Then I have a long talk with her," he explains, "to learn something about her character. Then it is easy for me to create an act which fits her personality."

His "fillies" are subject to severe rules. No stage-door Johnnies are allowed. The girls never appear out front. The more persistent admirer may try and get his card slipped to a girl before the show is over. Ever since the beginning of the Crazy Horse Saloon its owner has steadily fought against his dancers falling in to the old "bumps and grinds" routine of American strip tease.

His latest show is a concession to what he considers "pop art." This is expressed by five girls dressed in key bits of football gear—helmets, shoulder pads, socks and cleated shoes, leaving the bosom and other portions of the anatomy mostly bare.

A newcomer, Bertha von Paraboom, acts out a satire on Hitler's Germany, with much use of the swastika in the lighting effects. Bertha does the goose step to the strains of martial music wearing jack boots and a Prussian helmet. She ends up wearing nothing but a swastika G-string.

The Crazy Horse Saloon is one place where you do not have to drink champagne, and you can even order soft drinks without shrinking. First drink sets a patron back about $6. After that it is $2 a drink.
